COURT CONVENES IN NEW BUILDING

At Opening Term Tribute Is Paid to Former Jurist of County.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Christiansburg, Va., February 6.—The first term of court was convened in the new courthouse at this place yesterday, and was opened by appropriate ceremonies. Rev. R. L. Barrett, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church, opened with prayer, after which Captain John R. Johnson was accorded the honor of making the first motion of the term, which he did, giving a history of the foundation of the Circuit Court of Montgomery county in 1831. Judge James E. Brown being the first judge, and Rice D. Montague the first clerk. The list of the judges down to the present time, together with a long list of the distinguished members of the bar, was given, and their careers reviewed.

After this historical sketch was given, Captain Johnson presented a resolution commending Messrs. E. F. Smith, C. A. Crumacker, C. W. Surace and J. G. Walthall, the present Board of Supervisors, for providing a new building so well adapted to the comfort and convenience of the court and its officers, and the court ordered the motion, together with the historical sketch, spread upon its records.

A special grand jury was empaneled, and returned eight indictments for felonies, and the court will be in session for two weeks trying the criminal docket and other cases which are ready to be heard.

A large meeting was held in the interests of good roads, and a petition was prepared and will be presented to the court at this term asking for an election to vote on a bond issue of $100,000 to be used in macadamizing a turnpike from Christiansburg to the Floyd line, and for improving the present rock road, and also the road from here to the Giles line.

Before adjourning a motion was made and carried unanimously requesting Montgomery's representatives in the Legislature to have the present road law of this county repealed, as it has been in operation over ten years, and is very unsatisfactory to the taxpayers in that it takes more than half of the money to pay the road officials.

A resolution was offered by Captain D. H. Barker and unanimously passed requesting Delegate Johnson and Senator Hart to vote and use all honorable means to secure the passage of the Strode bill relating to the assessment of the rolling stock of railroads.

News of Manchester

Manchester Bureau, Times-Dispatch.

No. 1103 Hull Street.

"The Growth of the Soul" was the theme yesterday morning of Rev. J. W. Durham, in Bainbridge Street Baptist Church.

The pastor's sermon was an entreaty for all to "grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." He endeavored to instill into the hearts of his congregation the wondrous, boundless love of God, poured out without stint or measure, a "love" which passeth knowledge. He dwelt upon the thought that one must be enveloped by the divine love and must grow in the apprehension of it day by day. He said that the growth of this sort of growing in the Christian life was sure; that this was the only effectual way.

An interpretation of "Esther" was given from the pulpit at the evening service. Miss Shiplett sang a solo during the offertory.

Communion services were held yesterday at 11 A. M. in Asbury Methodist Church, with services in the evening.

A feature of the evening service was the launching of a movement termed the "competitive talent campaign," for the purpose of raising a fund, one hundred workers given $1 each, to invest "the talent" as wisely as possible and hand in their sum at the end of ten weeks.

"The Church and the Community" was the subject of the sermon yesterday morning in Clifton Street Baptist Church. The evening service was for young people. Girls and boys acted as ushers and took up the collection. The sermon was "The Church and its Young People." This theme, particularly selected for the occasion, emphasized the thought that a Christian principle and a Christian standard were not above a young man's or young woman's comprehension, and that the young are truly a part of the church.

Evangelistic services began in Cowardin Avenue Christian Church yesterday evening at 8 o'clock and will be continued throughout the month. The subjects of discourses and the dates are: February 13, "Salvation"; February 20, "Faith"; February 27, "Repentance"; March 6, "Baptism." The subject last night was "The Old Book."

Rev. J. M. Rowland, of this city, conducted the meeting at Laurel Street Church, Richmond, last night. Mr. Rowland has been conducting for the past two weeks these meetings for Dr. James H. She was popular among her friends—bright, warm-hearted and full of life. Her little daily endearments and sweetness were typical of an unselfish life.

all school children are expected to be present promptly. The end of the first term passed off smoothly and pleasantly.

HOLDS MEETING

Boys' Corn Club Is Organized

With Twenty Charter

Members.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Wilmington, Va., February 6.—The Teachers' League of Fluvanna county held a meeting in the Normal High School building at Palmyra on Friday and Saturday. It was well attended, and everybody seemed deeply interested in the proceedings. School Examiner C. G. Maples, Miss Scott, school supervisor of Albemarle county, Mrs. Heade, of Lynchburg; Miss Shoninger, of the Normal School, Harrisonburg; Mr. Farrar, the "corn man"; Professor Smith, of the Scottsville High School, and Rev. Mr. Christian, of Scottsville, were in attendance, and all gave interesting talks.

The Boys' Corn Club was organized with twenty members, and the league heard the report from the committee appointed at the meeting last fall to perfect a plan for a public school exhibit and fair to be held at the annual Farmers' Association of the county, and participated in by all of the schools of the county. Awards and prizes will be given for exhibits made by the boys and girls. The subjects of competition were fixed with reference to developing a love for home and country life, and a higher appreciation of the labor and work incident to the keeping up of a home, as well as awakening greater zeal and ambition in the prosecution of their studies. The idea running through the whole plan is to put into practical application what they acquire in the schoolroom, and to acquire in the schoolroom a practical knowledge of what they need to apply in their home life, and that each may stimulate a greater interest in the other.
